

Introduction to Accessible Content Production With Mohawk

The Disability Channel is proud to announce our recent Employment Partnerships with GTA based organizations and agencies. Digital11, HeyTony and The Toronto Star. These partnerships come at a time when the first graduates of The Introduction to Accessible Content Production program in partnership with Mohawk College Enterprise have completed their training and soft skills workshops. These graduates can now move forward into employment with these agencies. The Disability Channel is always looking to make meaningful apprenticeship placement partnerships where talented graduates from digital media employment focused programs can also benefit from a CCRW wage subsidy. We extend a thank you to Digital11, HeyTony and The Toronto Star for partnering and greatly impacting the employment prospects of those graduating from The Introduction to Accessible Content Production program.
